About The Cover

1985 marks the 75th anniversary of the Guernsey Breeders' Journal, the first and oldest breed magazine to be published by and under the direction of a herdbook association. The cover features artwork created by Kenneth Forner of Minnesota that represents what farming with fawn-and-white cattle may have been like 75 years ago. Also featured is a photograph showing how Guernsey dairies appear today. This particular shot taken by the Journal staff is of Yellow Creek Farm in Goshen, Indiana, the home of the new world leader for milk production. More details on both of these stories can be found inside this issue on pages six and 42.

Staff Comments

Staff Desires to Help You Prosper

Pictured here is your hired staff at Guernsey headquarters. We are ready to help you achieve maximum improvement in your Guernsey operation in the future. The following editorial (with minor editing) was written by Brad Ellsworth and appeared in the October 1984 Journal of the Milking Shorthorn and Illawarra Breeds. It seems most appropriate for Guernsey breeders to consider this as they set goals for the coming year.

Goals

Every breeder has his or her goals or purposes toward which their endeavors are directed. Perhaps it's to breed a champion show animal, to breed a cow that establishes a milk or butterfat record in her age group, or to increase one's rolling herd average for milk, protein and butterfat.

Your hired staff has goals, too and I list some here for your consideration.

To provide breed improvement information and service to our breeder-members which will assist them in their endeavors to make a reasonable profit in their respective operations.

To promote the breed.

To administer the programs, policies, rules and regulations of the Board of Directors in a fair and impartial manner.

To administer the national office and the financial assets of the organization in a businesslike manner, thereby insuring that the offfice can meet its service requirements and that the equity of each member of the Club is protected and enhanced.

To support genetic, managerial research, development and marketing programs to increase the quality and nutritional value of milk and milk products.

To increase membership in the organization and to increase the number of cattle registered with the Club.

To assist prospective purchasers of cattle to locate animals suitable for their particular needs.

To support individual breeders, state or regional associations' public auction sales.

To develop and administer an export sales program which will provide a foreign market for our cattle.

To encourage the use of the Grade-Up and Experimental breed improvement programs.

To cooperate with and participate with the other dairy breed organizations, national dairy organizations and land grant agricultural extension personnel in efforts to improve the dairy industry.

To support programs and policies which will enhance the breed fraternity.

If we are to achieve our goals, we need to rededicate ourselves to the tasks before us. Some say that the issue is whether or not the breed and the organization will survive. I say that that question has already been answered in the affirmative, and the issue is how far may we progress.

Brad Ellsworth is the executive secretary of the Milking Shorthorn Society.

Journal Bound Volumes Available

Almost 70 years of the Guernsey Breeders' Journal, in bound form that start with the first issue printed in 1910, are available. People or organizations interested in obtaining and preserving these volumes may contact Harvey C. Dreibelbis, 118 B. Lowens Strasse, Freehold, NJ 07728, telephone (201)462-0295.

Dreibelbis started a Guernsey herd in 1932, with the assistance of his father and brothers, Earl and Lloyd. From 1944 to 1952 he worked with the Llan Fair Guernsey herd in Pine Grove, Pennsylvania. For the next 25 years he managed Hominy Hill Farms in Colts Neck, New Jersey. What follows are two poems written by this Guernsey enthusiast.

1965 "After The Dispersal"

By Harvey C. Dreibelbis, mgr., Hominy Hill Farms, written fall 1965.

The cows are gone and I feel so sad
Although I thought I would be glad.
The barns are empty, much too still
And there, thoughtfulness at Hominy Hill.
As I reflect on this today
How hard I worked to make it pay.
I know the time has come to change
To let it go, though it seems so strange.
The nice and gentle Guernsey cow
Has always been here until just now.
At first I knew it won't seem right
Without our friends of the fawn and white.

I have missed them before
They even left, and I will miss them more.
I named them all and loved each one
And tears have fell now that they are gone.

The sun reflects the bright blue sky,
The cars still run serenely by;
Everything is like yesterday
Except the cows have gone away.

The Dreibelbis Farm Guernsey Herd

By Harvey C. Dreibelbis, written after the Driebelbis Farm Guernsey Dispersal on Octobert 5, 1984.

It was a bright and sunny day
That I was asked to go away.
Wisconsin was the State I went,
To buy some Guernseys with great descent.

The year was nineteen thirty-two,
My age was then only twenty-two.
It was an experience I'll never forget,
It gave me confidence that I did not regret.

The time to change from the black and white now
To the yellow and white, the Guernsey Cow.
The cow whose milk tastes so good
More people should drink this complete food.

Ten females and a male were purchased
To start the Dreibelbis Guernsey herd.
As years went by cow families were bred
That set the pace of the herd ahead.

For fifty-two years the herd has existed
With happiness, problems and things that went with it.
The time has come to make a change
But to let the herd go seems so strange.

It seems that very few like to pay
The effort of milking seven days.
At first I knew it wasn't right
Without our friends of the fawn and white.

But now that they are gone
The pastures look bare.
Everything is the same
Except the Guernseys are not there.

FLASH! On Friday, February 22, an open house in honor of Yellow Creek Choice Blossom will take place at 11:00 a.m. at Yellow Creek Farm, Goshen, IN. Complimentary lunch. Held in conjunction with the county dairy farm tour. Everyone is welcome.

A Time For Celebrating

This issue is the initial one in 1985 to commemorate 75 years of publication for the Guernsey Breeders' Journal, the first and oldest breed magazine to be published by and under the direction of a herdbook association.

In the January 10, 1910 edition AGCC Executive Secretary William H. Caldwell introduced the Journal by writing, "This, the initial number of the Guernsey Breeders' Journal, is sent out into the Guernsey world with the hope of meeting the approval and encouragement of the breeders and admirers of the Guernsey in making the publication a worthy representation and support of the breed . . . the future of the publication will, however, depend largely on the cooperation of the breeders."

From the very start this breed publication was successful in fulfilling the communication needs of members and other subscribers. Published on a monthly basis, the Journal focused on production records, sale summaries and annual meeting reports. For a time all ownership transfers and feed records of cows making Advanced Register records were also included, but these and other items eventually gave way to articles on the breeding of Guernseys, herd management and additional timely topics. Although the format and publication frequency of the Journal have been changed several times over the years to keep pace with dairy industry and journalistic trends, the accuracy and dependability of both editorial and advertising information have remained paramount priorities.

Preceded By Other Guernsey Publications

In addition to celebrating the establishment of the Journal 75 years ago, it is also very appropriate to recognize the anniversary of the birth of the first official circular that focused solely on Guernseys. Started just over 100 years ago on January 1, 1885, the Guernsey Breeders' Journal was published by the Guernsey Breeders' Association, with headquarters in Philadelphia. This monthly publication reached as many as 16 pages at some times, but was discontinued after the December issue because of "the pressure of private matters" that faced Editor Willis Hazard.

Five months passed without a magazine, but during that time committees and individuals were working to renew the Journal. On May 1, 1886 Colonel Mason Weld took the editorship of The Guernsey Breeder and Milk Journal. The first year was apparently successful, but by early 1887 matters had become worse, for Weld wrote, "Will The Guernsey Breeder be continued? We need a considerable increase in the subscription list to put the Journal on a paying basis." A few weeks after the publication of the July issue, Weld passed away, thus marking an abrupt end to this Guernsey magazine.

A publication committee tried to revive interest in a printed circular, with W. D. Hoard, editor of Hoard's Dairyman, ultimately offering to devote some columns regularly to Guernsey interest, asking no compensation except the support of the members.

Nothing resembling a breed paper appeared until 1895 when The Herd Register and Breeders' Journal was published quarterly by the AGCC. The Register and Journal was not intended to compete with other, agricultural publications, but to be "a magazine of high character that would give a valuable written history of Guernsey interests." In 1903 an advertising supplement to The Register and Journal entitled "The Guernsey Breeders' Sale List" was started, being sent free to all people who were doing business with the AGCC.

Three years later these information pieces were replaced by the Guernsey Breeders' Sale List and Bulletin, a combination of both editorial and advertising information. This publication was still sent free to those doing business with the Club and was continued until 1910.

Journal Leadership Through The Years

Convinced that the need for a real magazine had arrived, AGCC Executive Secretary Caldwell became the first secretary-editor of the new Guernsey Breeders' Journal, a position he retained for 13 more years. He handled the actual preparation work until Clarence Hulbert became the first person employed by the AGCC to specifically supervise the Journal and publicity work. When Hulbert left in 1920, advertising and editorial responsibilities were separated, with E. A. Onsrud handling editorial and Richard Holden, the advertising. Just two years later, after Onsrud resigned, Holden was declared the Journal's first managing editor for all aspects of the magazine.

Holden's tenure as editor lasted until he was assigned to the field work of the Club in 1926. He was succeeded by Lincoln Lounsbury who spent 29 years as the managing editor. During this time Journal business volume increased by 500 percent, the circulation was tripled, and the magazine successfully weathered the challenges of both the Depression and World War II. A tribute marking Lounsbury's retirement included the following, "He has built the Journal and the Journal staff. He has endeared himself to all interested in the breed. He never made claim to being a 'cowman.' He wasn't hired as one, but he was hired as an agricultural editor and he has been one of the best. He built the best in its field and leaves a record that will be hard to improve."

Richard Price was the person selected to fill Lounsbury's shoes. Rising well to the challenge, he oversaw 23 years of magazine production as the Journal's managing editor after having had 17 years of experience with this same magazine in the advertising department. During this time Price coordinated two very special editions of the Journal that celebrated the Journal's 50th anniversary and the AGCC's centennial. The Journal's announcement of his appointment prophetically said, "His capacity for work is stupendous, his acumen for seeing advantages from the point of view of others is unusual. He is loyal beyond the point of necessity. He is willing and ready at any time to give service. He will continue to inspire his associates and the Journal will continue to grow." In the tribute penned by AGCC Executive Secretary Max Dawdy at the time of Price's retirement, this was said, "Probably no employee of the AGCC has visited more Guernsey herds from border to border, and coast to coast, and covered as many and as wide a variation of Guernsey activities. Few have experienced the changing tides of history over four decades. Regular readers of a breed magazine come to know the editor over a period of time through the pages of the publication. Dick knew thousands of these readers personally from visits to their herds, in their homes and at events because of his energy and dedication to his task."

After working with Price for several months, K. Jo Wilson Ordway assumed responsibilities as Journal managing editor and director of promotion for the AGCC on January 1, 1978. Following two years of service, she returned with her husband to her family's Guernsey farm, Sunset Ridge Farm in Iowa.

Another journalist with a Guernsey background, Randy Mohr handled details as managing editor from March 1980 until November 1981. Since his direct Journal involvement, this Illinois native has continued to promote Guernsey interests via his employment in agricultural business.

Since February 1982 Janice Keene has been the Journal's managing editor.

Through the years the AGCC has sought out the talents of many individuals to assist with the editorial and advertising aspects of its breed publication. The combined efforts of these individuals and interested breeders have made this magazine one that has been held in high esteem by those in the Guernsey fraternity and in other facets of the industry.

Landmarks Through The Years

As with any institution, the Journal has had its share of changes that have been interesting and possibly landmark ones. A review of some of these would include . . .

•July 1, 1916. The Journal changes from a monthly frequency to a bi-weekly one. The subscription rate was then $2 per year.

•September 1, 1922. State pages are started that feature local news items of genuine interest to breeders.

•September 1, 1928. The Journal is copyrighted so that articles may be reprinted providing that proper credit is given for the origin of the material.

•March 1, 1936. The Journal becomes available via the Times Building News Stand in New York City. This issue reported, "Nick Hoga has five copies of each issue to sell on the stand. Anyone in New York wishing a copy of the Journal may secure it from 'Nick'."

•1950. The year with the largest number of paid advertisements (2,934 pages) appearing in the Journal.

•February 23, 1969. The first Journal to be completely produced and printed in the AGCC's own print shop.

•February 7, 1971. The announcement is made that a youth page will be featured in the Journal several times each year, marking the AGCC's commitment to a strong youth program.

•January 1972. The Journal returns to being published on a monthly basis, per Board direction.

•August 1982. A new masthead is introduced for Journal covers.

•February 5, 1983. This issue represents a combined January-February issue and marks the start of 10 issues per year.

Watch Future Issues

Although this just briefly touches on some of the highlights of the Journal's first 75 years and a few of the people who have made this magazine what it is today, it is intended as an opportunity to reflect a bit on the past and to set the stage for many more years of breed promotion. In each issue of 1985, the Journal will include some reprints of articles from past issues that may be of interest to readers today. We invite you to look for these in the next nine editions, and to do your part to make the next 75-plus years of the Journal even better than the first.

Board Meeting Highlights

Fourteen directors of the American Guernsey Cattle Club (AGCC) met on November 2 and 4 to determine policy, direction and budget plans that would lay a sound foundation for the Guernsey breed's progressive future. Held in Louisville, Kentucky in conjunction with the dairy show at the North American International Livestock Exposition, this Board session also included some interested breeders, AGCC staff and other resource people.

What follows are highlights of the major decisions which were made by the AGCC Board. Interested parties can obtain more details by contacting the AGCC.

Financial Matters... The tight dairy economy served as the backdrop for discussion of programs and services. By the meeting's end the 1985 budgets had been established projecting a breakeven year for Golden Guernsey, Inc and a $9,100 overall deficit for the AGCC on a $920,700 volume of business. This follows back-to-back plus financial years for the organization for the first time since 1970. A key to the monetary success of 1984 was the recovery of approximately $120,000 from a retirement fund which had been substantially overfunded. The fee adjustments incorporated into the 1985 budget are summarized in the following text. Other action called for a minimum finance charge of 50 cents be applied to accounts that are past due.

Joint Breed Efforts... President Myron Erdman presented reflections on a meeting of the AGCC and the American Jersey Cattle Club (AJCC) executive committees held the previous evening. The Board again strongly endorsed efforts to work closely with the AJCC and other breed societies in computer operations, type appraisal, personnel and other areas that could be mutually beneficial, as well as the formation of a Purebred Registry Center.

Herd Register Fee Changes...A strong sense of fiscal responsibility prompted the decision to allow for a moratorium on registration fees through March 31, 1985. During this period members may register Guernsey females over three months of age for $11 ($15 for non-members, males at double these figures). Starting April 1, 1985 the following fee schedule will be in effect, with special discounts for herds on the AGCC's Total Performance Evaluation (TPE) program.

Age In Months	TPE & Member	Member	Non-Member
0-6	$10	$13	$18
6-12	15	20	25
12-24	20	25	30
Over 24	30	35	40

Registration fees for males are double the above figures, with the owner of each male registered or transferred receiving a performance pedigree on that individual. On that same date fees will change to $5 for a family/partnership transfer, $12 for transfers received in the office within 60 days of the sale date and $20 per transfer for those received after 60 days.

Other Herd Register Items...A recommended tattoo system for official identification purposes was adopted to consist of at least one letter (not including I, J, O, Q or V) and one number, with the same tattoo applied in both ears. Effective January 1, 1985 each animal registered as a twin will have the suffix "-twin" added to its name. It was noted that identification certificates for animals qualifying for the Guernsey Genetic Growth program would be issued for the first time in November and that all such applications received to that point had been for females out of non-Guernsey cows and sired by Guernsey bulls.

Cattle Health... The positive attitude towards Johne's Disease control developed at the U.S. Animal Health Conference in Fort Worth, Texas on October 22-24 was reported on by Executive Secretary Bernard Heisner, who had attended, along with Dr. Glen Hoffsis of Ohio State University, on behalf of the Guernsey Foundation. He also indicated that the number of herds participating in the AGCC's listing program was on the rise.

Performance Program Changes... The type qualification for Gold Star and Double Gold Star awards will be that the actual appraisal final scores of cows completing lactations during the year in consideration be averaged, with this average exceeding the breed average for that same period. To receive Double Gold Star Breeder or Herd recognition, the individual must also be a member of an AGCC-sponsored young sire-proving group or an AI stud program. National class leaders for protein production will be published for the first time after January 1, 1986 and will automatically include all DHIR records on file at the AGCC. Breeders who have cows on DHIR with high protein records will have an opportunity to submit additional information prior to that date.

Milk Marketing... An equity fund was established within Golden Guernsey, Inc. with the concept of equity pricing and marketing of high-solids milk in mind. Joe Lyon, president of National All-Jersey, Inc. and member of the National Dairy Promotion Board, shared background on the Board's formation, progress and future plans, as well as the history of the Jersey equity program. A request for exclusive use of the Channel Island Trademark for cheese products with no royalty payments was presented by Russ Bringe, general manager of Tri-State Milk Cooperative of West Salem, Wisconsin. This will be reviewed further at the next AGCC executive committee meeting. In separate action it was determined that milk produced by cows enrolled in the Guernsey Genetic Growth program is eligible for the Golden Guernsey program.

Constitutional Amendments... The Board unanimously recommended adoption, by voting members, of two proposed amendments on annual meeting voting procedures for director elections and constitutional and bylaw changes, as well as eight proposed amendments regarding AGCC membership and one proposed amendment about auditing procedures. By a two-thirds majority vote, the Directors recommended that eligible members vote against an amendment that would eliminate the Guernsey Genetic Growth program and prevent the AGCC from sponsoring or participating in a similar program in the future. The two voting procedures amendments will be considered at a special meeting on June 14 in Denver, Colorado, while results of the other 10 will be determined at the annual meeting on June 17 in Denver.

Guernsey Foundation... After reviewing the research projects being funded by the Foundation, the directors involved voted to contribute $500 to the Richard Price Memorial Scholarship at Cornell University, to reimburse the Promotion Fund during 1985 for the three-quarter page, two-color ad in Hoard's Dairyman and brochures printed on Johne's Disease, and to pay the AGCC $3,000 in 1985 for the administration of the Foundation.

Cattle Marketing... In addition to endorsing AGCC involvement with the Golden Genetic Classic Sale, Act I on April 20, the Board sanctioned the management of two commercial Guernsey sales during the next year.

Board Size Reduction... The option of decreasing the number of directors in an effort to reduce expenses was discussed and then tabled to allow Board members an opportunity to canvas their constituents on the matter.

Youth Programs... The national youth essay contest was continued for 1985 despite lack of participation in the previous year. A dress code for exhibitors at national junior shows was adopted to require the wearing of white slacks or skirts. The Board made official the current policy of allowing animals owned by one or more exhibitor to be shown at national junior shows and entered in Junior All-American competition, providing that all owners meet junior eligibility requirements. Committees planning AGCC annual conventions will be asked to include special activities for youths in the schedule to provide for more family-oriented conventions. Beginning in 1985 the winner and first runner-up of the Outstanding Guernsey Youth contest will receive $150 each toward travel expenses to the AGCC Convention in the year of their awards, while the Outstanding Young Farmer first runner-up will be given $200 toward convention travel expenditures. A budget encompassing these and other programs for the national youth fund was also adopted.

Colebank Scholarship... The Lawrence Colebank fund, a permanent reserve that is the gift of this Guernsey ambassador's many friends, will provide the Colebank Award in the form of a $500 check for the winner of the Outstanding Guernsey Youth contest for the first time in 1985. Other fund awards given include those for 4-H dairy cattle judging, $500 for the top judge in Guernseys at the national contest and $300 for the high individual in Guernseys at regional contests where a national Guernsey show is also held. These awards are in the form of either a scholarship or to go towards the purchase of a registered Guernsey within one year of the gift.

Guernsey Breeders' Journal... 1985 will be the 75th anniversary year for the Journal, one of the oldest breed publications still in existence. Each issue during this anniversary celebration will focus on a different aspect of this magazine's development. In an effort to have the Journal be on a break-even basis financially and in response to a 15 percent printing cost rise, an advertising rate schedule representing an approximate nine percent increase was approved (see page 28 of the December 25, 1984 issue for a summary of the new rates, effective February 1, 1985).

Promotion Fund... The state and national advertising campaigns, slide shows and other special promotion projects using the theme "Guernsey...The Breed On The Move" were reviewed and discussed. A budget of approximately $25,000 was then approved for 1985 to encompass state and national advertising, a new Guernsey handbook and a brochure on the profitability of Guernseys...all focusing on a new thrust of "Guernsey...A Key To Your Profit Picture." Also $500 for each issue of the Journal will come from the Promotion Fund to assist with this form of breed promotion.

Shows... The Board extended the deadlines for the 1986 and 1987 national three-year-old futurities to November 30, 1984, which allowed for the total number of entries to reach 208 and 257, respectively. In response to a survey of national show exhibitors the previous year, the directors established a Junior Best Three Females class for the 1985 national shows, and All-American and Junior All-American contests. They also strongly recommended that all three national shows handle both open and junior state-herd competitions on a point-system basis rather than as a lead-out class. The AGCC will continue to provide milk, butterfat and protein production awards for three-year-old and older cow classes at national shows, unless show management already provides similar prizes. Show managements are requested to use a cow's most recent, completed, 305-day, two-time, actual lactation for such production honors. Because of the low number of entries at previous shows, the Board discontinued the provision of genetic index awards at national shows. In 1985 national show exhibitors will be asked to complete a survey to provide input on the national show scene. The Board endorsed current policy of the All-American contest which calls for the listing of show placings for group classes of only the shows where that exact, same group of animals was exhibited. In regard to approved shows, the Wisconsin State Fair was awarded approved status, while the Michigan State Show, the Pacific Northwest Evergreen Classic, the Massachusetts State Show and the State Fair of Texas were placed on a probationary basis. Since they had not met minimum guidelines for the previous two years, these three shows were removed from the approved list: Connecticut State Show, Oregon State Fair and West Expo.

Long-Range Planning... Throughout the meeting sessions, the Board took opportunities to set forth basic philosophies, goals and objectives for the AGCC for the short and long term.

Other... Support was given for a planned mating service to be enacted on an experimental basis and developed on a national level when feasible. Field staff members, Ed Wright and Bill Cochran, shared concerns and insights on Guernsey field service formally with the directors. Other presentations and discussion included blood-typing, genetic abnormalities, young sire-proving programs, new performance reports, the Master Breeder Award, the Distinguished Service Award and more industry concerns.

Next Meeting... The Board will next meet on June 13-14, 1985, immediately prior to the AGCC Convention scheduled for Denver, Colorado.

"Goldy" placed fourth at this year's NGS-Louisville after making a 1,900-mile trip from Phoenix, where she was the grand champion female of the Arizona State Fair the week before. We have had many favorable comments from Guernsey breeders everywhere on this cow. She is small as show cows go (56 inches tall and weighing 1,100 pounds when 60 days fresh). But many have told us that she is big enough and the right kind. At home she gets no special treatment. She is in a string of 90 head in an open corral with no shelter . . . not even shade. She is usually the first cow into the parlor and she milks out perfectly with no fuss. We believe this is the kind of cow that the Guernsey breed needs if it is to survive.

We believe that the best part about traveling all of those miles showing Guernseys is the Guernsey people we meet along the way. The Guernsey Fraternity is the greatest! And, we are looking forward to renewing these friendships in '85 at Denver. Enthusiasm is building for this event . . . we will see you there!

All-American and Junior All-American Nominees

Possibly for the first time ever, a pair of full sisters, a dam-daughter combination and two maternal sisters have been included as nominees for individual honors in All-American and/or Junior All-American competition. The 1984 contests also marked the debut of the intermediate heifer class and an entry fee of $20 for participating exhibitors. The three national show officials comprised the committee which chose the nominees for the 31st All-American and 11th Junior All-American races. Taking time from their busy schedule in December to make these selections were Merton Sowerby of Warrenton, Virginia, Gary Estes of Ozark, Missouri and Raymond Orisio of Woodburn, Oregon.

All-American Contest

In the All-American competition people from 20 different states, Canada and El Salvador submitted 119 entries, one more than was the case in 1983.

In this year's contest an interesting sideline is the family relationships of several nominees. Tag Lane BT Sabrina, the senior yearling entry of the Ayars family in Ohio, is the daughter of Idle Neer RH Satin, the Griswolds' aged-cow nominee from Wisconsin. From Spring Walk Farm of Ohio a pair of full sisters, one a junior two-year-old cow and the other, a three-year-old cow, was nominated. Seven paternal sisters sired by Co Hill Farms T H Big Tex were ultimately included in this year's competition, an increase of five from 1983. Clovelly Top Hornet once again sired four offspring which have been nominated.

Following the judges' pronouncement of their choices, several families ended up with more than one nomination to their credit. After being named the Premier Breeder of the national shows in Harrisburg and Louisville, the Wachtel family of Spring Walk Farm earned four individual and four group nominations. Next, with half as many nominations, were fellow Buckeye breeders, John and Bonnie Ayars and family, who scored in four individual classes. Four farms from around the country had three nominations apiece, including Fowler Branstetter and family of Kentucky, the Reed Bates family of Ohio, Chedco Farm of Massachusetts and Valley Set Farm of Indiana. Garnering two nominations apiece in the heifer categories were the Campbells of Keystone Guernsey Farm in Pennsylvania and Heather Housley of Tennessee, while the Clark Vilter family of Wisconsin owned individual nominees in one heifer and one milking-age class. Partial ownership in three cows qualified Donald and David Alexander of Indiana for 1½ nominations, with full interest in one cow and half in a yearling heifer providing the Dave Cochard family of Indiana with the same number of nominees.

Eleven animals in this year's contest had been recognized with nominations previously. The unanimous 1983 All-American Senior Calf, Green Slopes Poppys Patrician, has returned as a senior yearling nominee. Designated Honorable Mention Senior Yearling last year, Lavon Farms Sweet Thing has been select as one of six senior two-year-old finalists. One of three, three-year-old nominees to have earned recognition before is 1983 Honorable Mention Senior Two-Year-Old Locust Hill Lila. She is joined by a 1983 senior two-year-old nominee, Dewberry Farms Fayvors Likable, and a 1983 junior two-year-old nominee, A A Hornet Rose.

Two-thirds of the 1984 four-year-old selections are All-American Contest veterans. After being a unanimous choice for All-American Junior Two-Year-Old Cow in 1982 and the All-American Three-Year-Old Cow last year, Chedco T H Maxine has been nominated once again. Another entrant is Branstetters Deacon Clara with reserve honors as both a junior yearling heifer in 1981 and a three-year-old cow in 1983, as well as honorable-mention credit as a junior two-year-old cow in 1982. Past showings for Olympic View TH Rachel include Honorable Mention Junior Calf honors in 1980 and the All-American title as a senior two-year-old cow two years later. A nominee from a year ago is Anchor & Hope Jean. From the aged cow group and completing the list of previously nominated animals are the 1981 Honorable Mention Four-Year-Old Cow, Spring Walk Hornets Pearl, and a 1983 aged cow nominee, Dutch Mill Fernells Betty.

Three farms have duplicated former recognition by having groups nominated in this year's contest. For the 17th consecutive time Chedco Farm's Best Three Females group is nominated with seven Honorable Mention, four Reserve All-American and one All-American wins already to its credit. Another frequent entrant in this class is Valley Set Farm. Since 1966 the Wengers have merited four All-American, three Reserve All-American and five Honorable-Mention certificates. Spring Walk Farm has earned its second Best Three Females group nomination. The two herds with previous nominations for Exhibitor's Herd are Chedco Farm, which has had a nominee every year since the class' start in 1978, and Valley Set Farm for the third time.

Junior All-American Contest

In the Junior All-American Contest youngsters from 17 states entered 57 Guernseys, which is up two from last year's total. With four Junior All-American nominees, Emily Branstetter of Kentucky tops the owners' list. Additional junior exhibitors having more than one nominee include Mark Bates and Kurt Wachtel of Ohio, Daniel Ripley and Craig Bauer from New York, Karla Halbert and Brent Wenger of Indiana, Kyle Lindsey and Craig Peters of Illinois, Margaret Wallis from Missouri, Heather Housley of Tennessee and Christina Vilter of Wisconsin.

An interesting statistic is that 43 percent of the 1984 All-American nominees were animals that had also been nominated in the Junior All-American contest.

Fifteen of the Junior All-American nominees are repeating this honor from previous years as follows. The unanimous winner in the 1983 senior calf class, Green Slopes Poppys Patrician, is back to defend her title as a senior yearling heifer. Also trying to stay undefeated in Junior AllAmerican competition is Merit Tex Joy, the winning junior calf from last year. Valley Set C Heidi, the 1983 Junior All-American Junior Yearling, is the only junior two-year-old nominee that had been nominated before. Two senior calves that went head-to-head in the 1982 contest, Reserve Junior All-American Sickels Dairy Synbad Aada and Honorable Mention finisher, LaClaudkes L

Marcee, are competing against a 1983 Honorable Mention Senior Yearling heifer. Lavon Farms Sweet Thing, in the current senior two-year-old class. Returning for consideration as a three-year-old cow is Junior AllAmerican Two-Year-Old Valley Set Abe Dandy. Also in last year's junior two-year-old class and having earned Honorable-Mention credit is Dewberry Farms Fayvors Likable. The 1982 Reserve Junior All-American Junior Calf, Wagners Emory Imogene, has been chosen to compete among this group of three-year-olds as well. The 1983 Junior All-American Three-Year-Old Cow, Wampanoag Telestar Shy Lynn, and the Reserve Junior All-American Three-Year-Old from that same year, Messixs M C Lass, are back for consideration as four-year-old cows. Although this is her first time in the junior division, Branstetters Deacon Clara has fared well in previous All-American contests and is now in the running as a four-year-old cow. Four of the six aged cows have received Junior All-American recognition, including 12-year-old Bermuda Valley Fayvor Girl, a 1974 Honorable Mention Senior Yearling and 1981 Honorable Mention Aged Cow. Spring Walk Hornets Pearl, now seven years of age, was the 1981 Reserve Junior All-American Four-Year-Old Cow. Another winner from the 1981 contest as a junior two-year-old cow and a 1983 four-year-old nominee is Walliss Bonnet Hydro. Rounding out the list of previous contest competitors is Dutch Mill Fernells Betty, the 1983 Reserve Junior All-American Aged Cow.

A pair of maternal sisters has earned Junior All-American nominations. Owned by Margaret Wallis of Missouri, they are Four-Year-Old Walliss Bunny Blue Chip and Aged Cow Walliss Bonnet Hydro.

Big Tex also came away a winner in the junior competition after having sired six of the 57 nominees. The names of Maurana Wis Telestar and Housleys Dari Fayvor both came up frequently as well, since they each appear on the paternal side of six entries.

Please note that a correction should have been made in the placings of LaClaudkes L Marcee, a senior two-year-old nominee, prior to publication. Although she was first at the Southwest Wisconsin Parish Show, she was not named the grand champion female as stated.

A pictorial summary of the All-American and Junior All-American nominees accompany this article. The results of these two competitions will appear in the March 25 issue of the Journal.

New World Production Champions

The year 1984 will go down in Guernsey history as a record-breaking one with respect to the performance of several individual cows. Not only did one receive the highest appraisal final score ever assigned to a Guernsey (Win Crest Knights Vel, EX-96, with several national class-leading records), but two others also completed 365-day lactations that exceeded previous statistics for both milk and butterfat.

A cow whose name has become a household word in the Guernsey fraternity, Chedco T H Maxine is now being recognized as the breed's new all-time leader for butterfat production. Edging out the previous champion, Fox Run A F C Faye, by just one pound, she generated a senior two-year-old lactation that is first for both milk and butterfat in 365-day competition, as well as first for butterfat and second for milk at the 305-day level. This record made on three-time-daily milking follows a very respectable yearling lactation that exceeded 780 pounds of butterfat.

This Clovelly Top Hornet daughter has moved steadily up on the breed's high-CPI list since her debut there, and is now tied with several other individuals at the 158th spot. Her high MCD figures, now at +8,400M +473F, have been one of the key aids in the earning of the first five Total Performance Cow awards ever offered at national shows. Other tanbark successes for this 93-point Guernsey have included grand champion recognition at two of the three national exhibitions in 1983. Currently a nominee for the 1984 All-American Four-Year-Old Cow, she already holds the titles of 1983 All-American Three-Year-Old Cow and unanimous 1982 All-American Junior Two-Year-Old Cow.

Bred by C. E. Cotting of Berlin, Massachusetts, Chedco T H Maxine is from Chedco Farm's famed "Mamby" family. Her dam was a VG-85 Western Glow Darimost daughter with 706 pounds of butterfat and four Very Good sisters that had top lactations ranging from 664F to 792F. Next in this maternal line was an EX-91 cow with 819 pounds of butterfat produced as a junior four-year-old cow. The third dam was a well-known, Gold Star Dam that had been appraised 92 points, Lyrene Maestros Mamby. With a lifetime total of 191,610M 5.0% 9,508F 4,530D, she earned the Liebers Trophy for lifetime milk production in 1975.

"Maxine" has also produced two heifer calves to date to carry on the family traditions. The first, by Chedco Vickys Darimost, was born in July 1983, while the second, by Clearbranch Hornet Topper ET, was born this past October. This new world production leader is now under contract by a major AI stud and is being superovulated.

Another claim to fame for this cow has been designation as the breed's highest-selling cow ever at public auction. At the October 1984 World Premiere Sale in Madison, Wisconsin she was struck off at $51,000 for her consignors, Donald and David Alexander of Lynn, Indiana. She is now owned by Donald and David Alexander, and Rogelio Muyshondt of San Salvador, El Salvador.

Adding another superlative achievement to an already long list of accomplishments, Yellow Creek Choice Blossom has handily become the highest milk-producing Guernsey ever in breed annals at both the 305-day and 365-day levels. Her six-year-old lactation that was started in November 1983 and was made on three-time daily milking, also made her only the second cow to yield more than 30,000 pounds of milk in 305 days or less.

These impressive credentials represent a new production plateau for this Kellogg Minnies Choice daughter that has the breed's fourth-highest Cow Performance Index (CPI). Each of her four lactations thus far have qualified for national class-leading recognition, average more than 30,000M and 1,300F, and contribute to lifetime-to-date totals of 124,730M 4.3% 5,323F 1,707D. Her most recent record tops the from five- to 10-year-old age bracket for both 305-day milk and butterfat production, and is the first for milk and second for butterfat in the 365-day category. The 365-day protein total of 1,099 pounds is also the highest one yet recorded on DHIR test.

A Gold Star Dam, this new world record holder with a Modified Contemporary Deviation (MCD) of +11,731M +383F is a member of a cow family that is realizing extraordinary potential. Her full sister that is appraised EX-91 is working on a junior three-year-old lactation that should become a national class-leading one upon completion. Yellow Creek Choice Rosebud already has a Wagners T H Emory son at Sire Power and is now under contract by another major AI organization.

The 91-point dam of these two cows was Yellow Creek Noble Rosebloom, another national class leader. This Yellow Creek Prince Noble daughter had 4-09 24,750M* 4.1% 1,012F 365D 2X as well as an MCD of +2,133 pounds of milk.

Blossom's oldest daughter, Yellow Creek CE Bunny, was officially evaluated "Very Good" as a senior two-year-old cow, is in the breed's 94th percentile for cow index dollar value (CIS) and has 2-6 13,590M 4.4% 594F 305D 2X. The second daughter, sired by Maurana Wis Telestar, freshened for the first time in October. Blossom's next calf was a Housleys Dari Fayvor son that is being proven through the Indiana Young Sire Program. Her most recent calving provided a Co Hill Farms T H Big Tex son that is now at Select Sires.

Truman Weaver of Yellow Creek Farm in Goshen, Indiana, the owner and breeder of this four-time national class leader, has indicated that Yellow Creek Choice Blossom is now being superovulated.

The picture that was inadvertently used was that of her Excellent daughter, Vunderquelle Peg. "Pearl" is owned by Thomas Griswold of Ixonia, Wisconsin, while his daughter, Karie, owns "Peg."*

Corrections

On page D7 of the November 25 issue, the address in the Lawn Crest Farms advertisement should have included Wapakoneta as the town. This Guernsey operation is owned by Charles and Greg Hardesty and families.

The Wa-Lin-Ti Guernseys/Sunny Top Farm advertisement which appeared on page 71 of the December 25 Journal should have included the following as paragraph five in the text, rather than what did appear: "We are privileged to currently be working with Wayne's father in just such a relationship. We are very excited to have the opportunity to expand our herd, knowledge and experience, and hope to be able to continue in the family footsteps and preserve our dairy as a family operation well into the next century."

"I'd call this a major scientific discovery."

"When you can reduce protein in the milking ration by 15-20% and maintain milk production, that's efficiency!"

Just think what this can mean. If you reduce protein in the milking ration by 15 to 20 percent while maintaining production, you can pocket valuable savings.

You'll spend less on purchased protein. And that's just what you need today – a way to perk up income per cow.

How can this new technology yield such savings?

ProTek is the result of a whole new discovery in protein science. ProTek technology enhances conventional protein. It actually alters the chemical properties of proteins to yield higher utilization.

This is not just another reformulation of protein sources like many other new dairy feeds. ProTek technology is unique. It's a technology owned exclusively by Central Soya. In fact, the ProTek technology is so unique that Central Soya has applied for a patent on it.

The results shown below are a sample of what you can expect. Contact your Master Mix dealer...and get this new technology working for you now.

	Control	ProTek™
Avg. daily milk production	43.4 lbs.	44.0 lbs.
Butterfat	3.5%	3.5%
Avg. protein level of milking ration	18%	15%
Avg. pounds of protein in grain ration	4.0 lbs.	3.3 lbs.
Protein savings	–	0.7 lbs.

The above results are the combined averages of Central Soya dairy research trials, University tests and on-farm field trials involving more than two thousand dairy cows. Results were recorded at all stages of lactation. Several roughages and feed forms were included.
